

Town Planning Horse Sense For Community, B. Of T. Told

Aurora—Town planning is nothing more or less than applying the same common horse sense we use in our own business problems to those of the community," declared Alan Deacon, Weston, well known Ontario architect and town planning consultant, to the Aurora board of trade on Monday night. "Tabulate your problems, put them in perspective and get away back and look at them," he urged.

The public school was one of the most important things in the life of the community and he liked to see "the best possible use made of the school, open 24 hours a day for the use of the whole community." The high school was another communal centre for games, concerts, lectures and dances; full use should be made of our investment in public buildings, he said.

It was necessary to decide which would be the business, residential and factory areas, Mr. Deacon said. "Aurora appears to be a healthy municipality. The assessment is not high and the debt load low. Don't trust too much to luck. No one knows what the future of Aurora may be, it is the best time to take stock and plan for the future while the municipality is healthy," he continued. Yonge St., he said, was a problem for all municipalities through which it ran, yet, he considered that it brought considerable needed revenue to all towns situated on it.

Move Business Section
"How can you plan Yonge St. so traffic is not impeded by parking for shopping and yet still move more people to stop and shop?" he asked. "This was a problem for the board of trade and the town planning committee to consider. In the U.S.A. some municipalities went so far as to move their business section from the existing site, yet remained close to the main artery of traffic, he said. It has proved beneficial on all counts but such a move required the co-operation of the whole community.

Schools, recreation centres and parks should be located centrally so that no group has to travel further than another to attend, Mr. Deacon said. A town like Aurora, he felt, required at least three softball diamonds, a baseball diamond and more parks with a total acreage of 15 acres and the area and recreation centre centrally located.

"Aurora might well expect to increase to 10,000 in population in the next ten years if conditions were right," he said. "An ample water supply is the first essential. Obviously, if this is to take place a great deal of constructive planning must be done.

"Can you afford to have certain industries in the community?" he asked. Industrial sites must be specially selected and it might be advisable as a long range view to discourage the coming of certain types of factories. "Most communities have at least one industry that might better have been located elsewhere," he said. Weather and wind conditions were factors that might even influence location.

There was a danger in having too much industry of making an economically sound municipality poorer, he said. He cited instances to show how increased building and population might make a demand on public services far in excess of financial returns. The stream running through Aurora might well be developed into a series of natural parks and the community protected from further deleterious effects upon it, he suggested.

Interim Plan
A question and answer period followed with Dr. C. R. Boulding, chairman of the Aurora town planning committee, leading the discussion.

It was advisable to draft an interim zone system for the municipality pending the complete plan, he said. (Page 2, Col. 4.)

Victor Attridge Is Named To Town Planning Group

Aurora—Victor Attridge, Aurora lumberman, was appointed to a vacancy on the Aurora town planning committee on Monday night. When the committee was struck it was short one member. Terms of the members are as follows: three-year term, Dr. C. R. Boulding, Stewart Mills; two-year term, J. W. Bowser and E. H. Clarke; one-year term, H. M. McKenzie and Victor Attridge.

After the building permit committee of Aurora town council had delayed making a decision on granting a permit to C. E. and Lyall Shanks for the erection of a three-storey building on Centre St. between Spruce and Yonge Sts., council approved granting the permit on Monday night.

The building plans as tabled shows a building 41' x 71' of cement block construction. On the basement floor will be show rooms, offices, and factory space. On the first floor will be three apartments. On the top floor will be a public hall, suitable for banquets and dances with a floor space 41' x 51'. Mayor Ross Linton said the permit had been delayed so council could decide if this was a business or residential area, and he pointed out the street was narrow and there might be parking problems.

Councillor Charles Davies suggested turning the matter over to the town planning committee for a report, but council felt it would only have to deal with the report in the end and make a decision.

Roland Modde was granted a veterans' lot on the south side of Tyler St. for the sum of $1 a house to be erected on the premises within two years' time.

The report of the streets committee was left over to a special meeting of council when the various points will be discussed.

A new half-ton dump truck with hoist was purchased from Walter Milgate at $1,885 net, an allowance of $300 being received from the old truck.

Mrs. D. J. Webster requested that a new street should be put through from Catharine Ave. to Fleury St., council would consider naming it Petch Ave. in honor of the former Aurora town clerk. Council placed the request on file until the matter arises.

HUGH C. McRAE DIES AT HOME ON SATURDAY

Aurora—Hugh C. McRae died suddenly on Saturday at his home. One of Aurora's most promising residents, he was a member of the Aurora public school board and president of the Aurora Progressive-Conservative Association.

In his 43rd year, Mr. McRae was born at Whitehead, Ont., and entered public relations and organization in the mining field at an early age. He resided at Cobalt and New Liskeard before moving to Toronto and he came to Aurora 12 years ago.

A few months ago, Mr. McRae, who was known across Canada and in the United States in the securities world, moved the head offices of Newcor, Wampum and Harlight Gold Mines, his most recent business interests, to Aurora.

He was past president of the Aurora Golf club and did much to keep the club going when it was at low ebb. He was a member of Rising Sun Masonic Lodge and the Aurora chapter and of the Albany club. In the last provincial election campaign and in federal campaign as well, he conducted a vigorous campaign on behalf of the Progressive-Conservative party.

In January, he contested a seat on the Aurora public school board and headed a field of three. He attended Aurora United church and was a member of the board of stewards. His generosity for any worthy cause was well known throughout the district.

He is survived by his wife and four children, Hugh, Anne, Ruth and Bruce, his father, Jas. McRae, Port Lambton, four brothers, Dan, John, Kenneth and James, Burk's Falls, and one sister, Mrs. M. Armstrong, Windsor.

The funeral service, which was widely attended, was held from Aurora United church on Tuesday under Masonic rites, with interment at Aurora cemetery.

Pallbearers were Herbert Stocks, N. F. Johnson, A. E. L. Maughan, Dr. C. J. Devins, Edward Chatterley, and Keith Nisbet. Rev. Roy Hicks was in charge of the service.

MAKES 6 A.M. TREK TO TEND GOATS

Newmarket—Ivan MacMillan, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holden, Eagle St., has two ambitions in life, but he's not sure yet in which one he'll try to succeed. One is to become a successful violinist, the other to raise goats. So far he has never tried to play a violin, but he has had considerable experience in the raising of goats. Ivan gets up at 6 a.m. every morning, walks a mile out to a farm on Gorham St., milks two goats, feeds and otherwise looks after 17 others and then returns to Stuart Scott school, where he is a seventh-grade pupil. And he has only been late once all year. Above, one of Ivan's younger brothers holds a goat for the camera, while Ivan illustrates the milking process.

Contributions Lag in Flood Relief

Newmarket—H. J. Luck, chairman of the Ontario Flood Relief campaign in Newmarket and district, reported this week that contributions of clothes and food were not up to expectations in the first three days of the campaign.

"The town hall is open to receive contributions and volunteers are there to bale and sort clothes and food," he said. "If it is not possible to bring contributions, a truck will pick them up on receipt of a phone call to 114."

The food and clothing will be baled and sent to England to alleviate conditions brought about by the recent floods. All kinds of clothing and foods which can be sent overseas are acceptable.

Newmarket—G. L. Manning, manager director of Office Specialty Mfg. Co. Ltd., said that advertisements of the flood relief campaign were hung in the factory and that the firm will handle the transportation of contributions from out-of-town employees to the town hall depot.

The following was sent by a veteran in aid of the British Flood Relief campaign. It speaks for itself.

ONE WAY OF DOING IT
Some people have lots of money. While others seem to have brains. Some people whistle in sunshine. While others curse at the rains. I once was able to whistle. But now I've lost my teeth. So my next bet to be happy is to give to flood relief. —"Bingo"

STRESSES NEED FOR AID
Newmarket—Mrs. Walter Collins has returned from an eight-month visit to Great Britain, arriving in Newmarket Tuesday. Mrs. Collins confirmed reports of food and clothing shortages in England and stressed the need for all assistance from Canadians.

Newmarket—A show is being provided by the Strand theatre for grade school children at 10 a.m. Saturday. Admission price is a bundle of food or clothing for British flood victims. There will be seven prizes for the best donations. The show is being provided through the courtesy of the Strand theatre management.

Members of the Morning Coffee club have donated the prizes. Four high school girls, Kathleen Mathews, Pauline Bovair, Pat Kynknet and Mary Ellen MacLennan, have volunteered as ushers, as have the Boy Scouts.

The council of North Gwillimbury has delegated to the Women's Institute of North Gwillimbury the task of handling the collection of articles in the Flood Relief campaign.

Aurora Rejects Firemen's Request For Yearly Pay

Aurora—On April 23, representatives of the Aurora fire brigade presented three requests to Aurora council at a meeting of the water and fire committee. The request tabled and approved by a majority vote of the 24-man brigade requested: better insurance protection for the brigade; a weekly payment for a stand-by car for firemen at the T. Sisman Shoe Co.; $100 a year for each fireman plus an additional $150 for the chief, $85 for the captain and $25 each for the lieutenant and mechanic. The municipality would receive all the fees from outside fires in place of the present 50 percent.

Deputy-reeve Asa Cook brought in the committee's recommendations on Monday night as follows: the firemen will be brought under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act if they approve. This will not be costly to the town and will give full protection. The request for car allowance was turned down on the grounds that all firemen were not covered by the request and it might make for some dissension. An increase of $150 was made in the annual fire grant to bring the amount to $600 while the brigade will still get its 50 percent of outside fees. The report requested the brigade to carry on their duties. Councillor Stewart Patrick urged that the firemen be paid as requested by them. "We sit here and don't have to worry about danger," he said. "They work in all kinds of weather. I have been a member of the brigade for 22 years. If this goes through, I would resign from council and would turn my money from the fire brigade over to charity. It is a hobby with me but I would like to see the boys paid."

"It is an awkward thing to say no to the firemen," said councillor Thomas Swindle. "We are reaping some of the fruits of the town council members voting themselves a salary. I opposed it in 1944 and was not in council when it was passed. I am still opposed. It was said if the men on the council were paid, better service would be given. I question if that is the case. Council set a precedent. Councillors sit in an easy chair and are not taking the risks of the firemen."

"Neighboring towns which have salaries have difficulties," said deputy-reeve Cook. "Our brigade is doing a great job, the volunteer spirit counts for a lot. This seems the best we can do now."

INJURED AT WORK

Newmarket—Miss Norma Pegg caught her finger in the press she was operating at the Office Specialty Mfg. Co. last week. She is at present at the home of her parents near Sharon.

Increase of Ten Mills Noted in 1947 Budget

Newmarket—The Newmarket town council Monday night approved a mill-rate of 47 for this year as Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette, chairman of the finance committee, brought down the budget. The new rate represents a ten-mill increase over last year.

The ten-mill difference is made up of a 6.5-mill increase in the general rate, and a 3.5-mill increase in the school rate. This year's general rate is 34 mills compared to the 27.5 mills of last year. The school rate this year is 13 mills; last year, 9.5 mills.

The 1947 budget sets estimated expenditures at $159,038 with revenues set at (sale of services, improvement taxes, etc.): general, $35,017; school taxes, $34,849; general rates, $38,270.

Real Headache
Terming the budget "a real headache for those dealing with it," Deputy-Reeve Spillette said it was reached only after extensive paring in all departments. "We had no choice but to reduce the estimates of the various committees because of our heavy fixed costs. We have pared costs to the bone but we still have this ten-mill increase," he said.

CONSIDER NEW WAY TO FINANCE REPAIRS

Newmarket—One bright spot in the presentation of the budget Monday night by the chairman of the finance committee, Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette, was the hint from him that an alternative way of financing property improvements was under consideration by the committee.

"We recognize that property improvements to sidewalks and roads, buildings, etc., cannot be paid from the present budget to the extent that they should. The finance committee is considering an alternative method of payment for those necessary improvements and will bring their recommendations before council at an early date," he said.

Specialty Workers Given 7 Percent Wage Increase

Newmarket—Employees of the Office Specialty Mfg. Co. Ltd., who attended a mass meeting in the Boy Scout hall on Friday night, accepted unanimously the agreement reached by company officials and union leaders of local 20 of the National Union of Furniture Workers, C.C. of I. The meeting was chaired by Lorne Paynter, president of the local. According to Mr. Paynter, the agreement was signed on Saturday morning.

The agreement provides for a seven percent increase in all wages, over and above the four cents an hour received a month ago when the national labor board refused to deal with the agreement and it was turned back to the union to accept the company's offer at that time.

The new agreement sets the minimum wage for men over 21 years of age at 60 cents an hour, except in the case of physically handicapped men, and the minimum wage for class B employees (women, and boys under 21) at 38 cents an hour.

The new agreement also provides that an employee shall be eligible for one week's holidays with two weeks' pay a year after five years' completed service and for one week's holidays with one week's pay after one year's completed service. An employee with less than one year's completed service shall be entitled to one-twelfth of one week's pay for every month that he has completed in the service of the company.

Mr. Paynter said that he would not ask the company for a check-off until such time as he could show the company that 90 percent of employees eligible to join the union were active supporters of it.

LEASES HOTEL
Newmarket—Alex. Georgas, Newmarket, has leased the King George Hotel from Arleigh Armstrong effective last Thursday. BUDGET SHOWS HIGH INCOME TAX CUT

The federal budget was brought down last week with the welcome news that it contained an average 29 percent reduction in personal income taxes. Of all the provisions, that is the most welcome since it is the one most readily felt by the average citizen.

The 29 percent reduction is something of a surprise because of its size. While it was readily agreed to on all sides that there would be a reduction in personal taxes, few thought it would be any larger than ten percent. Indeed, taxation of wartime proportions has become such a habit with the citizens that a possible ten percent reduction seemed quite large even though the war has been over almost two years.

The same attitude has been shared, somewhat, by those charged with fixing the taxation since the budget of 1946 shows a surplus of $352 millions. The surplus is much applauded because it is the largest in Canada's history, but the taxpayer could ask why wasn't that surplus paid to him in the form of reduced taxation last year instead of accumulating in the federal vaults.

On the whole, however, the budget has proven acceptable to the country. Industrial leaders regret that the excess profits tax was not discontinued immediately, and labor argues that the income tax exemption is not high enough. But as has been remarked often enough, the budget can not please everybody.

One immediate result of the budget will be that it will help stop the flow of talented Canadians across the borders to the United States. Tax relief to this group of scientists, artisans, executives who can sell their ability at much higher prices in the United States is the equivalent of increased revenues here.

MISTAKE ROADSIDES FOR GARBAGE DUMPS

A correspondent has written us with a reminder of the onset of a seasonal nuisance, that of dumping garbage on the roadsides. He writes: "... A once beautiful district is fast becoming a garbage dump."

There are too many citizens who mistake spring cleaning for a process by which the garbage in their closets and yards is transferred to the road allowance in the country. The extra margin on the roads is to permit expansion, not to accommodate those slovenly persons who define neatness by moving their garbage out of their sight into the sight of someone else.

Our correspondent makes a good point when he refers to the tourist trade. It is no advertisement to any area when instead of pleasant green shoulders to the roads, the eye is met by a constant succession of rusty iron, papers, pieces of garbage, yes, and rotten potatoes.

The Sunday picnic party is an offender, in most cases, by the manner in which it will scatter its belongings over some farmer's right-of-way. A traveller on a pleasant day will see ample evidence of picnics in the form of the remnants of food, broken pickle bottles, and scattered papers. No wonder the farmer looks askance as the picnic party pulls up alongside his field.

But it is not only the city-bred who offend. Too often, the farmer is responsible for the likeness to the town dump that his roadsides present. He can hardly expect neatness where so bad an example is set.

Garbage can be disposed of by burning, burying, or disposal in areas set aside for dumping. A little care, if practised by all, would bring an end to this sloppiness.

COMPLAINING ABOUT THE WEATHER?

Complaining about the weather? Here is what a clipping from the Newmarket Era of an undetermined date, sent to us by Mr. E. S. Hawtin, says of the weather in 1816 in a reprint from the Boston Globe.

"First month so mild as to render fires almost needless in parlors. The second month was not very cold, being, with the exception of a few days, mild, like its predecessor. Third month was cold and boisterous during the first part of it, but the remainder of the month was mild. Fourth month began to warm, but grew colder as the month advanced and ended with snow and ice and a temperature more like winter than summer.

"Fifth month was more remarkable for frowns than smiles. Buds and fruit were frozen and ice formed a half-inch thick; corn was killed and replanted again and again until deemed too late. Sixth month was the coldest ever known in this area. Frost, ice and snow were common. Almost every green thing was killed. Fruit was nearly all destroyed. Snow fell to the depth of ten inches in Vermont.

"Seventh month was accompanied by frost and ice. On the 5th, ice formed to the thickness of a common pane of glass throughout New England, New York, and some parts of Pennsylvania. Indian corn was almost all destroyed although some fields favorably located escaped. Eighth month was more cheerless, if possible, than the summer months already passed. Ice formed a half-inch thick. Indian corn was so frozen that the best part of it was cut down and dried for fodder. Almost every green thing was destroyed, both in this country and in Europe. Farmers supplied themselves with produce in 1817 from the seeds of the spring of 1815.

"Ninth month furnished about two weeks of the mildest weather of the season. Soon after the middle, it became very cold and frosty; ice formed a quarter-inch thick. Tenth month produced more than its share of cold weather. Frost and ice were common. Eleventh month was cold and blustery. Snow fell so as to make good sleighing. Twelfth month was mild and comfortable."

This summary of what was called the "Cold Summer of 1816" appeared in the Boston Globe and was reprinted in the Era. The author of the piece recalls a settler in Pennsylvania who was so struck by the vagaries of the weather that he wrote home: "We do not seem to have a climate here: only samples of weather." The moral: no matter how bad it is, it could always be worse.

OVER THE BARREL UNLESS

The latest of the conferences of foreign ministers has ended in failure. There is a deadlock on the question of the German treaty and a host of lesser issues. Another conference is set for London in November with chances of an earlier meeting in New York.

A despatch from the scene offers this prognosis of the causes of the conference failure. According to the report, Russia wants a strong, centralized Germany because Lenin has set it forth that such a Germany is essential to the growth of a communist Europe. The democracies want a weakened, decentralized Germany.

If the democracies agree to the Russian stand, they are contributing to the spread of communism in Europe. As Lenin said: "The principal link in the chain of revolution is the German link, and the success of world revolution depends more upon a (strong, highly industrialized) Germany than any other country."

If they don't agree, the deadlock can be continued indefinitely with every day of disagreement contributing to the further demoralization of Europe, a demoralization which in turn will turn to an extreme form of government—communism. In so many words, by its insistence upon the kind of Germany it wants, Russia can win either way.

One thing is certain: there must be compromise for the sake of agreement. The U.S. Secretary of State, Gen. George C. Marshall, said in his report: "We must not compromise on great principles in order to achieve agreement for agreement's sake... (nor) can we ignore the factor of time involved here... The patient is sinking while the doctors deliberate."

Russia won't win, however, if the democracies continue their firm stand on the kind of treaty which will benefit not one country but the world; at the same time demonstrate that they are willing to meet the spread of communism in Europe by supporting anti-communists forces abroad by loans and other aid.

TOWN PLANNING

The first step was to secure a competent advisor. "Keeping the confidence of the public while the plan is being evolved is a big essential to its success."

Building permits should remain the function of the municipality, not of the planning board. He liked to see all types of housing in a community to suit all needs, from apartments to the single home.

The cost of a consultant and planning board expenses should be borne over a three-year period. He thought one mill was sufficient on the alternative of 50 cents per head of population.

It was a mistake, he felt, not to include an area on the outskirts of the municipality in the plan. It should include "the normal sphere of influence of the town."

Land desired for specific purposes by the town planning committee should be acquired as quickly as possible, he felt. In the case of land purchased for factory and other purposes, previous to the action of the town planning committee, he thought persuasion rather than bludgeoning would be better. "The non-conforming use" by-law would prevent expansion for all time of non-desirable buildings and factories for an area and would probably result in their ultimate removal from the particular area.

Stewart Mills introduced Mr. Deacon to the meeting and councillor Charles Davies moved the vote of thanks which was warmly received. Dr. C. R. Boulding requested the co-operation of the whole community in making their needs and ideas known and working together. "Remember we all are part of the community and have an equal voice," he said.

President H. M. McKenzie, who presided over the meeting, announced the board would

- Around Town -

About the men and women you meet around town almost everyday.

It's possible that it was because he was a native Scotsman that the lawn bowlers of Newmarket elected Philip John ("P. J.") Tod keeper of the coffers, but it's more likely that it was because he was a successful banker for 38 years, which ought to be enough reference for anyone.

"P. J." was born in Glasgow 65 years ago, and it was there that he started his banking career following the completion of his studies at Glasgow grammar and high schools. He was in the Clydesdale bank for three years, and was cashier of Bryce, Junior, and White, a lumber importing company for three years before he came to Canada. He had already become an associate of the Bankers Institute of Scotland, but he and his mother and sister were anxious to join his father and two brothers in Canada.

Andrew, the youngest brother, had come to Manitoba in 1901. In 1902, another brother, Henry, went to Russia, and he stayed there until 1914. Three months after he left the eldest brother, David, came to join Andrew, and in 1903 "P. J.'s" father came out to join the two sons in a home-steading settlement. However fire wiped out their entire holdings except for the livestock, and it was not until 1906 that the three Tod's in Scotland were in a position to join the three Tod's in Canada. At that, one of them didn't quite make it—his sister married in Boston.

"P. J." lived for six months with the rest of the family in a little Scotch settlement at Manville, Alberta, before he left to accept a position in the Merchant's Bank of Canada at Edmonton. "Dick Reid, who was later premier of Alberta, lived in that settlement for a while too," he says. He was active in all sports and played football with the Caledonian football club and the Edmonton rugby club ("Senator Griesbach was on that team"). He was also active in golf and tennis, and has since become an enthusiastic lawnbowler.

Up Through The Bank He worked his way up through all positions in the bank. In 1911 he left the Edmonton branch of the bank and went to Winnipeg as accountant, and in 1912 he became assistant manager, a position that he held until he was transferred to the Neepawa branch as manager in 1918.

In 1923 the Merchant's Bank was taken over by the Bank of Montreal, and in 1933 "P. J." came to Newmarket as manager of the Newmarket branch. He held the position until 1941, when he "got too old for the job and retired." For the next two years he restricted his activities to being secretary-manager of the Summit Golf Club, but in 1943 he took over as Selective Service manager here. In 1945 he "got too old again" and went into retirement once more.

"P. J." married Isabel Browne, a childhood sweetheart, on Dominion Day in 1914, and his son, Jimmy, who received most of his education in Newmarket, graduated as a civil engineer from the University of Toronto before enlisting in the army where he rose to the rank of captain. Jimmy is now 26 and works for the Bell Telephone Company at London.

Besides his activity in the bowling club, "P. J." is an active member of the Masonic Lodge.

TO THE EDITOR

The Editor: With another approaching tourist season on its way, it would seem that all right-thinking Canadians would be on their toes to create a good impression on our visitors.

This is a good business axiom and cannot be denied.

Then why in all common sense do people still lack the elementary decency to dispose of their garbage in a right manner? It seems to be the established thing in this district to dump all the old cans, sealers, bottles, etc., on the roadside. One filthy person has dumped six bags of rotten potatoes on the townline.

Decidedly we need an educational campaign and more prosecutions since a once-beautiful district is fast becoming a garbage dump.

approach council to have the telephone, the electric poles and wires either removed underground or placed back of the stores on Yonge St. This would allow the extension of the sidewalk and give ample shopping room as well as making angle parking possible. (Mr. Deacon in his address scored angle parking as a solution to the Yonge St. problem.) He also announced a paper salvage in May and an X-ray clinic for T.B. in July. Dr. G. W. Williams outlined the arrangements for the X-ray clinic and urged all municipal groups to get behind the idea and canvass the town. "It is free and doesn't cost a cent," he stressed.

Miss Marjorie Andrews played during the dinner hour and Don Murray delighted with two songs with guitar accompaniment. A plan for Yonge St. prepared for John W. Bowser, on display and attracted considerable attention. Rod Smith led the sing-song, which was joined in heartily by the large attendance.

of which he is now secretary. He laughs when he thinks of that first trip out west "when I had to get off the train twice to help them put the engine back on the track," but his plans for the future include another trip — this one back to Scotland to visit his wife's relatives. "I went back to Scotland in 1911 to visit Isabel, but I have never been able to get away since, despite the fact that I made definite plans to go on two occasions. My wife has been back twice, though," he says.

Convicted Of Receiving, Pair Given 3-Month Term

Newmarket—Charles A. Hirst, 22, formerly of Keswick, and Raymond Goodwin, 20, a U.S. citizen who has been making his home at Toronto, were found guilty of two charges of being in possession of stolen goods when they appeared in magistrate's court here on Friday. Two charges of breaking and entering and one charge of theft were dismissed. Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., presided.

Hirst and Goodwin both had previous records, and at the time when they appeared in court here were under sentences of 15 months and 12 months respectively for the theft of a car at Toronto. On Friday they answered charges of breaking into and entering a garage at Orchard Beach, the property of H. C. Nicholls, breaking into and entering the dwelling house of A. Boxer, Orchard Beach, with intent to steal, theft of a license plate, the property of Elmer King, Keswick, possession of a Johnson outboard motor valued at $100, two cans, and a quantity of garden hose, all property of H. C. Nicholls, and possession of a license plate, the property of Elmer King. They pleaded guilty to the last two charges and received concurrent sentences of three months and one month, sentences to run consecutively with the ones that they are serving for theft of the car at Toronto.

Herbert C. Nicholls testified on Friday that when he visited his summer cottage on April 19 he found that his garage there had been forced, and that an outboard motor, two gas cans, and a quantity of hose had been missing. He identified those that were produced in court as the ones that had been stolen.

Harold Roberts, Toronto, said that he owned a Mercury car that had been stolen on the night of April 18. "There were three steamer rugs and an umbrella in the car when it was taken," he said.

Elmer King, Keswick, testified that he had not noticed that the license plate of his car was missing until he got to work on the morning of April 19. "One of the other men pointed to the fact that my license was missing," he said. "The previous night I had a full tank of gas, too, but on the 19th I had to fill the tank again to get home."

Receives Call
Kenneth Noble, a garage man at Uxbridge, testified that he had received a telephone call at his garage at 2 p.m. on April 19, asking for aid in getting a car out of a ditch. "I went out at 5 p.m. and found Goodman with the car. A few minutes later Hirst came out of a farmhouse where he had gone to call me again," he said. "There was an outboard motor in the car, and the license plate produced in court was on it. The gas cans were not there. Goodman and Hirst took the motor out of the car and were going to start to hitch-hike, but the motor was too heavy and they put it back. There was a blanket wrapped around the motor."

Constable J. E. Johnston, Uxbridge, testified that Mr. Noble had called him at about 8.15 p.m. on April 19, and that he had proceeded to the garage and began to question the two accused. "The motor was in the trunk of the car then, but the license plate was on the rear," he said. "The gas cans were not there, but I took the two into custody." Constable W. R. Hill, Sr., said that he had received a complaint about a break-in and theft at Mr. Nicholls' garage at Orchard Beach. "Mr. Nicholls reported an outboard motor, two gas cans, and a quantity of missing hose," he said. "Later I investigated the complaint of Elmer King that his license plate had been stolen. I found all of the stolen articles except the gas cans in or on a Mercury car outside of Noble's garage at Uxbridge."

Detective Allen Wallace, Toronto, testified that on April 22 he and Detective C. E. Martindale had questioned Hirst and Goodwin, who were in custody on charges of receiving stolen goods. "We questioned them separately, and after I had cautioned Hirst, he made a voluntary statement which I took down and later repeated to him. He said at the time that the statement was correct." The statement said in effect that when Hirst and Goodman "got" the car they found the goods in the back. "He implied that it was a great surprise when they found the motor," Mr. Wallace said.

Says Statement Correct
"Later I talked to Goodman and I repeated to him the statement that Hirst had made. Goodman said that the statement was substantially correct."

Mr. Martindale corroborated the evidence given by Mr. Wallace.

Both Goodman and Hirst, who were unrepresented in court, refused to say anything in their own defence. Magistrate Pritchard said that evidence on the entering charges was not sufficient to warrant a conviction, and that there was no evidence at all upon which to base a conviction for theft of the license plate.

"I find as a fact that the stolen goods were in the possession of the two accused, and that they knew that the goods were stolen," he said.

Prior to sentence Hirst asked that it be made concurrent with the sentences that the two received in Toronto. Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong said that he was in favor of the concurrent sentence. Magistrate Pritchard said that he could not subscribe to the concurrent sentence. "If this were the first offence of which the accused had been convicted, it would have been a good argument, but both men have records. There will be a sentence of three months for receiving the outboard motor, the sentence to be consecutive to the one they are serving at present, and a sentence of one month, concurrent, for receiving the stolen license plate."

An order was made for restitution of all the stolen goods.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE SEEKS JOBS FOR OLDER VETERANS

In Newmarket at April 1, according to figures of the National Employment Service, there were 29 older veterans registered for employment but unemployed. Many have served in the two great wars. Others fought only in World War I but made a real contribution to victory in Canada's war industry.

Now these men are finding it difficult to locate peacetime employment. The Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee, in co-operation with the Department of Veterans Affairs and the National Employment Service is attempting to place them.

The co-operation of all is needed. The committee, in many cases, seeks positions not requiring great skill, but with integrity and willingness to work the important considerations. Many, however, have excellent peacetime experience and will prove efficient employees.

If you can place an older veteran, please notify the Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee, or list the opening with the National Employment Service.

These are FACTS

- Surveys show workers' most productive years are between 45 and 54.
- Figures prove older workers less liable to industrial accidents requiring compensation payments.
- Increased cost for group insurance not great. Difference between worker aged 25 and worker aged 45 is $1.58 per $1,000 of insurance per year.
- Increased cost not great in normal pension plans. Fewer normal pension payments for worker hired at age 25 is 5 per cent — for one at age 40 is 7½ per cent.

THERE ARE 29 OLDER VETERANS UNEMPLOYED IN NEWMARKET. THE CITIZENS' REHABILITATION COMMITTEE, THE NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE AND THE DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS ARE MAKING A CONCERTED EFFORT TO CUT THIS TOTAL. IF YOU CAN EMPLOY AN OLDER VETERAN, LIST YOUR OPENING WITH THE CITIZENS' REHABILITATION COMMITTEE OR WITH THE NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE.

MOUNT ALBERT BRIDAL COACH TAKES COUPLE ABOUT VILLAGE

The wedding took place on Saturday of Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Rishbrough, and Kenneth Harrison, son of Mr. Robert Harrison and the late Mrs. Harrison, all of Mount Albert. Rev. W. H. Burgess conducted the service in the United church parsonage.

After the ceremony, the happy couple were escorted to a waiting coach where two guests were stationed, in front and behind the bride and groom. The bridal coach was a wagon drawn by a team of horses and gaily bedecked with flags. A seat was made for the couple on a plank which stretched from side to side with an arch of three boards completing the picture. The traditional scrap iron was hung on the rear axle of the wagon.

The bridal coach was paraded about Mount Albert to the accompaniment of much applause from the onlookers. Following an afternoon of excitement the wedding couple and guests went to the bride's sister, Mrs. Gordon Harrison, for the reception.

The new business will be known as Howard's Service Station and will be run apart from the old station of Morton Brothers. Mr. Morton's brother, Bill, will carry on the old station.

Mr. Morton said that he had large supplies of war surplus stock and that he hoped to be able to offer accessories for most electrical equipment.

Renovation Of Old Store Uncovers Minor Mysteries

A major change in the business life of Mount Albert is seen in the retirement at 84, after 57 years in business as a druggist, of W. T. Lloyd, and the purchase of his store by James Rennie.

Mr. Rennie has begun renovations in the store and as partitions are removed and the floor relaid, articles are coming to light which represent minor mysteries in themselves. Three cases of type for example, have been found, and no one knows how they got in the drugstore.

Mr. Lloyd was one of the oldest residents in business in Mount Albert. He could be seen daily at his store and was a well known figure about the village. A keen churchman, Mr. Lloyd was in his favorite pew every Sunday in the United church. He married the former Sarah Jane Clelland, Kettleby, and she predeceased him in 1924.

William Lloyd was born in Kettleby in 1864 and during his school days, lived on his parents' farm. On finishing public school in his village, he attended Newmarket high school. He served his pharmacy apprenticeship with Frank York, Aurora, and attended the Royal College of Pharmacy in Toronto. Prior to his entry into the profession, he taught school for a few years.

On receiving his diploma in 1887, he came to Mount Albert where he has remained ever since. The drug store was then owned by Tom Rowland whom he bought out. He has served the community until a few weeks ago, an enviable record of 57 years.

Since undertaking the renovation of the store, Mr. Rennie has uncovered much of interest to the present day. A box of cigars, said to be 65 years old, were found. The cigars have been there since before Mr. Lloyd's time. The cigars were in perfect condition and to prove it, Mr. Rennie smoked one and declared it as good as one newly bought.

Children's old pencil sets; mouse-traps of the wooden box type in which the mouse was literally beheaded; boxes of soap that dated over 30 years ago, originally in block form but now crumbling to dust at the touch; pop bottles with the old wire caps; and herbs, powders, and pure raw drugs of the old-

MAGISTRATE'S COURT SENTENCE SUSPENDED IN THEFT CHARGE

Newmarket—Daniel Andruzko, King, who was remanded for mental examination last week when he appeared in magistrate's court to answer theft and vagrancy charges, was given suspended sentence when he was convicted of theft on Friday. Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., presided.

William Anderson, Toronto, who has a farm at King, said that he had been working on his farm when accused walked up to him and said "Boo". "He spoke in a foreign language and was dressed in a long raincoat. After a few minutes he ran out to my truck, threw the coat on it and ran away," he said. Mr. Anderson identified the coat as the one produced in court.

T. Gilham, King, identified the coat as one belonging to him and said that it had disappeared on April 24. "A smock was taken too," he said. "Both were taken from my garage." He identified the smock that the accused was wearing as the one that had been taken.

Constable Aubrey Fleury testified that on April 24 Anderson had called him and told him what had happened. He said that when he found Andruzko he admitted taking the smock and having had the coat. "He said that he had had a couple of drinks and that he had meant to return the two articles."

"I was just cold," Andruzko said.

Gordon Majisko, a neighbor of the accused, said that he was thoroughly honest and decent and that he lived alone. Constable Fleury said that Andruzko had wandered about 12 miles. "He has never been in any trouble before," he said.

Three youths were fined $10 and costs each when convicted of carrying firearms without licenses.

Chester Sweet was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to having liquor in an illegal place. Constable W. R. Hill, Jr., laid the charges.

Mrs. G. R. Scott was fined $10 and costs when she pleaded guilty to driving a car having faulty brakes. John Diceman was also fined $10 and costs. Constable Jack Lawrence laid both charges.

A charge against Kazimer Rodinsky, Queensville, laid by Harry Berman, Toronto, was dismissed and Berman was told to "let the police lay the charges the next time." Berman claimed that Rodinsky had sideswiped him on the highway. Berman left the scene of the accident before police officers arrived and laid the charge later.

Alfred Cole, Toronto, David Hartford, Newmarket, R. T. Nichols, Toronto, and Kenneth Tye all pleaded guilty to minor traffic infractions.

Health Board Asks End Of V. O. N. School Service

Aurora—In a letter from the Aurora board of health, it was "suggested" to Mrs. Thomas Dann, secretary of the Aurora V.O.N. committee, that the nurse be instructed to cease any further nursing duties in the public school because of lack of provincial approval.

The letter, which follows, was made public at the Aurora town council meeting Monday night. Text of the letter: "Kindly be advised that the local board of health suggest that you notify Miss McIntosh, V.O.N., that she must cease any further public health nursing duties in the local public school until she receives further orders, for the following reasons:

"(1) The health program as mutually agreed upon by the local board of health and the public school board failed to meet the approval of the provincial board of health, for reasons set forth in their letter received dated April 21, 1947.

"(2) That the public school board, as reported in the press (namely the Toronto Star, May 3 issue, and the Aurora Era) seems unwilling to accept any suggestions or recommendations for a school health program, as suggested in same letter received from provincial board of health, dated April 21, claiming that any program based on these suggestions would be inadequate in the Aurora public school.

"Therefore, no agreement for a school health program can, under the circumstances, be entered into between the local board of health and the public school board or the V.O.N. organization, as is required by the public health act, for such a program to be inaugurated."

FORMERLY AT S.A.C., DIES IN TORONTO

Aurora—Miss Daisy Brookes died at Toronto General hospital on Saturday following a lengthy illness. A native of York township, she was for many years on the staff of St. Andrew's College and was well known in Aurora where she was a member of the Aurora Golf club and Aurora United church. Her sister, Miss Bessie Brookes, who was at St. Andrew's College with her, predeceased her two years ago.

She is survived by four sisters: Mrs. John Brick and Mrs. Reg McEvoy, Toronto, Mrs. M. A. Morrow, Victoria, B.C., and Mrs. W. H. Gillard, Beaver Lodge, Alta. Interment was at Mount Pleasant cemetery on Monday.

FIX SALARY

Aurora—Town foreman James Goulding had his salary fixed at $38.50 and his duties defined by Aurora council on Monday night. On the question of the salary being $40 or $38.50, the latter figure was adopted after a recorded vote. Those in favor of the higher figure were councillors Sisman, Davies, Patrick and reeve Sparks. Those in favor of the lesser amount were Mayor Linton, deputy reeve Cook and councillors Rose, Jones and Swindle.

APPROVE GRANTS

Aurora—Grants approved by the Aurora town council for 1947 are as follows: Aurora V.O.N. committee, $600; Aurora Boys' band, $250; Aurora horse show, $100; Aurora Horticultural Society, $50.

MRS. BESSIE FARIS PASSES IN OTTAWA

Aurora—The death occurred at the home of Rev. J. M. Allen, Ottawa, on Saturday of Mrs. Bessie Faris, widow of Peter Faris, former Aurora resident. Mrs. Faris, who was born Bessie McKay, was in her 85th year and had resided at the Scotch settlement near Bradford before moving to Aurora. She left Aurora following the death of her husband eight years ago.

While in Aurora she was active in the Presbyterian church and later the United church. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. M. Allan (Rhoda), Mrs. J. E. C. Fraser, Ottawa, and two sons, E. M. Faris, Toronto, and Rev. Donald K. Faris of the China missions. Interment was at Aurora cemetery on Monday.

MISS JEAN BLAIN DIES IN 96TH YEAR

Aurora—One of North York's oldest residents, Miss Jean Blain, Oak Ridges, died at St. Michael's hospital on Sunday. In her 96th year, she suffered a severe fall on Tuesday from which she never recovered. Born at King, the daughter of the late Stewart and Helen Blain, pioneer residents of the district, Miss Blain became an educationist and was for 36 years on the staff of the schools at Ypsilanti, Mich. Upon her retirement, she came to reside with her late brother and her sister, Miss Elizabeth Blain, at Oak Ridges where the family kept store for many years. The funeral service was from Richmond Hill on Wednesday with interment at Richmond Hill cemetery.

ELMHURST BEACH

Mr. Wm. Armitage, Toronto, was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hayes and called on Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pollock on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Taylor, Toronto, who have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Foster, moved in last week. Mr. and Mrs. Foster are planning to build on their lot next to Mr. Lloyd Sedore.

Mrs. Alfred Smithers has returned to her home here after spending a month in Toronto with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Hurlbert, who has a baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Connolly and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maw and Frankie were up from Toronto to attend the wedding of Miss Irene Broughton and Mr. Walter Sedore on Saturday in Keswick United church.

LIBRARY SEEKS FUNDS TO IMPROVE BUILDING

Aurora—The public library board, through chairman William Coleman and Sydney Davis, requested the Aurora town council on Monday night to consider improving the condition of the present library building and allowing the board extra money for caretaking purposes. The latter amount is already cared for by the town direct but the board felt it would be more advantageous to handle the matter themselves.

Improved lighting and heating and a drop ceiling were some of the suggestions advanced to improve the building and the matter will be dealt with by the property committee of council. Some discussion arose as to making the building a permanent site for the library and this point will also be considered later.

FORMER REEVE OF ETOBICOKE NEW ASSESSOR

Aurora—Robert Marshall, ex-reeve of Etobicoke twp. and now retired from business and residing at Caledon East, is the new assessor for the town of Aurora. He will be paid $5 a day in 1947 for the days he works. The applications received narrowed in committee to Mr. Marshall and William Duckenfield, Aurora, and following interviews, Mr. Marshall was selected because of his municipal experience, the report tabled by councillor Thomas Swindle stated.

There will be no change in the present method of assessment to take effect in the taxation until 1949. Because the assessment roll for 1948 must be completed by September 30, Mr. Marshall will use the same system as Major W. H. Taylor plus new additions. Major Taylor was paid $300 last year.

Following the completion of the 1948 assessment, Mr. Marshall will undertake the much heralded new method of assessment which will take some months to complete. Once that has been completed the permanent salary for an assessor will be settled.

"Mr. Marshall has previous experience in the system recommended, plus practical knowledge of the work, which the others did not appear to have," stated councillor Thomas Swindle. "He is planning to become a resident of the town."

"We might be able to utilize his services another 100 days for the town of Aurora at the same or other wages in some capacity," said councillor Crawford Rose.

"I was disappointed more applications were not received and we hadn't a wider choice," Mayor Ross Linton commented.

FLOOD COLLECTION IN AURORA MAY 10

Aurora—Citizens are reminded of the collection of clothing, and canned food for the Ontario Flood Relief campaign on Saturday. Packages will be picked up by the truck manned by Aurora Boy Scouts. Contributions should be left on the verandah securely tied in boxes or bundles. The sorting room is at the Salvation Army and any parcels not picked up may be left there.

In addition to goods, the committee is accepting gifts of money and official receipts will be issued which may be used for income tax purpose.

Reports from England indicate food and clothing to be scarcer than in war years, and Canadians will not forget their debt to the residents of the "little islands" which bore the brunt of battle so long. The campaign is sponsored by the Ontario government and locally is being conducted by the Women's Institute under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Klees.

A year's subscription to the Era and Express is only $2. It is $3 for two years.

BALL SCHEDULE FOR PARK IS SET UP

Aurora—Councillor John Sisman reported that the Lions Club was the only organization to seek playing time at the Aurora town park and the nights had been allotted as follows: Monday, midweek; Tuesday, girls; Wednesday, intermediate; Thursday, junior; Friday, practices; Saturday, a.m., pee-wee.

The diamond will be resurfaced, the pitcher's mound improved, the baseball screen extended and a new softball screen erected in the south-east corner of the park. Two horse-shoe pits with benches will be installed. Motor vehicles will be kept from the park as much as possible to preserve the condition of the diamond. Keith

THE COMMON ROUND IT ADDED UP

Many cars from north, south, east and west drove into Newmarket on the afternoon of April 29, laden with many things besides passengers. The extras, in most cases, had to be handled with loving care.

The destination of people and bundles was the Anglican parish hall where people bearing all sorts of articles—articles beautiful, articles curious and articles useful—drifted here and there, examining sites from which their contributions might show to best advantage. Along one wall on a long table reposed the salads in a glistening, glowing, colorful array—jellied fruit, jellied vegetables, potato and bean salads, all dressed up till they resembled a flower garden and made one's mouth water in anticipation.

On the other side of the hall the arts and crafts practised by the Institutors made a colorful and intriguing display. Rugs portrayed scenes and patterns; quilts were in every variety—all showing the time and skill which had been lavished upon them; table cloths of linen, lace and linen and lace made one envious of the skill displayed in their fashioning. There were toy animals to please the wee ones, artificial flowers so natural that one instinctively stooped to smell them; there was leather work beautifully done; hammered brass and copper and some lovely little paintings—I cannot remember them all—time and space fails me. But I think the sponsors of Summary Day felt that they had really started something and I am sure that everyone was surprised at the splendid showing and just as splendid attendance.

At last the moving mass of women found seats and Mrs. McKeig and her committee took their places on the platform. Mrs. Billbrough, Aurora, led the singing of The Maple Leaf, Opening Ode and Home on the Range, your scribe acting as accompanist.

After this, Mrs. McKeig called on Mrs. Boak, our district president, for a speech. Mrs. Boak spoke of how delighted she was with the attendance and said the idea of Summary Day had developed from the courses sponsored by the Institutes and she announced that Mrs. Hayes would be our guest speaker at the D.A.

Mrs. Charles Weir then introduced Miss Irwin—who, by the way, was to be the salad judge. Miss Irwin, after saying how pleased she was to be present, said that the W.I. program is essentially based on health of mind and body and that posture with a capital P had much to do with health. Muscles will rebel and tire if posture is wrong. Miss Irwin, to the delight of her audience, illustrated a few posture faults—very obvious ones—slumping, sway back, twining your legs round chairs, etc. She told us to watch our clothes, our posture and other people and exercise self control. Tall people should not try to look shorter and must posture faults start with a bad habit. Eliminate the habit and the fault will soon follow.

At this point, your scribe was called on to sing Cowen's Children's Home and The Artist—the latter a song about cats. The readers of this column can understand the second choice. Mrs. George Wood acted as accompanist. Mrs. Reddick then introduced the next speaker, Miss Spencer, who last year conducted a leather-working course in Aurora. Miss Spencer spoke of the difficulty in securing materials to work with. She said the best thing to do was to use the materials at hand—sheepskin, calfskin and wool were some she mentioned. She told us that calfskin makes the better leather and the sheep gives the wool for weaving.

Weaving Products. She showed us the products of different kinds of weaving on different kinds of looms—lovely patterns—belts, bags, towels, and in leather—purses, lovely things, belts and many smaller articles. All in a choice of almost unlimited patterns.

Mrs. Ernest Copson, Snowball, had some lovely, fluffy sheepskin rugs on display and she told Nisbet will look after the mowing of the grass.

If other organizations desire the use of the park, Mr. Sisman said the Lions club would be willing to allocate one night a week to them.

Bob Lewis, Newmarket, for potato salad and Mrs. Monkman, Gormley, for bean salad. Mrs. McKeig thanked all those who had contributed to the success of Summary Day and a vote of thanks was also tendered Mrs. McKeig for the efficient way in which she had organized the day. And so, the first Summary Day has passed into history—a real success.

Don't forget that May 14 is the D.A.

In Memoriam
Brammer—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Phoebe Playter Brammer, who passed away May 7, 1946. One year has passed, dear mother. Since you were called away; How well do we remember That sad and weary day. You suffered much, you murmured not; We watched you day by day. We cried and prayed that your dear life Would not be taken away. Ever remembered by husband, Hazel, Frank and Harry.
Dutcher—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, John Dutcher, who passed away in Kettleby on May 7, 1944. Remembrance is a golden chain Death tries to break, but all in vain; To have, to love and then to part Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart. The years may wipe out many things But this they wipe out never—The memory of those happy days When we were all together. Ever remembered by his wife Susan, daughters and son Herbert in B.C.
Lundy—In sad but loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mary C. Lundy, who passed away May 8, 1943. Gone into that light that shines so fair, Gone from the earth of sorrow and care, Resting those hands that did their best, Gone, our dear one, gone to rest. Dearest still as the years depart; Her memory lives within our hearts. With tender love and deep regret We who loved her will never forget. Ever remembered by daughter Lettie, son-in-law Ben, grandchildren Laura and Burt and family.

ON WHERE, ON WHERE
(Continued From Page 1) cents below the price that other stores are selling for for advertising purposes. They may even accept a loss on some particular dairy product, solely for that purpose. When they do, they force the man in the store across the street or down the street to cut his price and eventually all the stores in the area are selling at the reduced price. This cut in price is reflected back to the producer. It is because of such practices that the farmer is forced to accept low prices for nearly all of his products.
"The 10-cent increase in the price to the consumer is not putting any more money into the hands of the producer. It merely compensates him for the loss of the government subsidy and for his own increased costs," he said.
Storekeepers distributing butter in Newmarket professed ignorance of the distribution of the increase, except for the fact that they knew that they were not going to get any of the increase.
Arnold Molynaux of the Red and White Store was the only one to report that he had not noticed any change in the volume of trade during the past week.
Jack Reid, Reid's Better Food Market, said that he "could count on the fingers of one hand the number of pounds of butter that I have bought to sell each day since Thursday. They really came rushing in for butter on the last day before the price went up, though."
Mr. Hall said that sales had definitely dropped since the increase. "We sold 150 pounds over the counter on the last afternoon," he said. E. Hogan, Cousins Dairy, also reported large sales on Wednesday and a drop since.
Andy White, manager of Loblaw's, said that his stock of butter had been such that he had sold butter at the old price all day Thursday before adding the increase on Friday (the prices board did not allow distributors to increase their prices on old stocks of butter). "All the customers came in and cleaned up all their valid coupons completely," he said. "Some bought as much as ten pounds of butter with valid coupons. The only people who are buying butter now are the ones who did not have any valid coupons then."

CONSULT PAUL WESLEY ABOUT HAIR PROBLEMS
Most women need only two permanents a year. The difference in price between a good or bad or indifferent perm if spread over a six-month period is negligible. So don't condemn yourself to a frizzy topknot or to a curl which lies down and dies a few months after your perm. The very best wave for your type of hair is the very best economy in the long run. The same rule applies to the cutting and shaping of your hair. Come in and see Paul and Wesley Tobey at Embassy Beauty Parlors who are always ready to advise you about your hair problems. (Adv.)

ST. PAUL'S ACTIVITIES

On May 15, Sunday-school scholars will attend the 11 a.m. service in the church as in former years. For the summer months, the younger ones will be looked after in the parish hall while the older ones will proceed to the hall before the address.

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Teddy, six years old, will be repeating first grade next year. He is especially fond of his teacher so that isn't such a hardship as far as Teddy is concerned. In Teddy's instance, a kindergarten was the place for him this year. He had too many social adjustments to make before he could settle down to learning. School amazed and bewildered Teddy, the other children made him feel shy and he spent a great portion of his time simply silently worshipping his teacher. For the most part, Teddy was too tense and ill-at-ease to learn. Now, near the end of his first year, Teddy is more at ease. His hand no longer becomes practically paralyzed when he tries to print. He has stopped most of his chinking when he has something to say. He is learning to read. It is expected that Teddy will be able to continue school at a normal rate of speed beginning next year.

Teachers can't conscientiously pass a pupil to the next room before he is ready for more difficult work. Those early lessons need to be well learned to give a firm foundation for future building of the child's mind.

No Reflection
Teachers do what they believe is best for the individual child. It's no reflection on their ability as teachers if they cannot honestly pass every child. Actually, they are failing the child if they allow him to pass before he is ready—not to mention the inconvenience to future teachers, who are faced with remedial work.

In some cases, a recommendation to an opportunity class is the logical solution to the child's difficulty. In such a class, the child can come into his own. He isn't competing with anyone but himself and he never fails to make progress. In such a class, the child receives more individual attention. The teacher has fewer pupils and is better able to study his needs.

Parents sometimes sway the better judgment of teachers by wanting, and often insisting, that their child be pushed ahead to the next grade—no matter what. Because of these parents' selfish pride, the child's future school life suffers.

Children should be ready for school and formal teaching before they enter first grade. Kindergartens are of inestimable value in bridging the way from home life to school life.

Teddy is right—his teacher is an angel. All first grade teachers are angels—especially those who undertake the tremendous responsibilities that are theirs in a school system that doesn't provide for kindergartens.

SCHOMBERG PARENTS DIE AFTER FIRE DESTROYS HOME

The sudden death of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oldfield cast gloom over the community last Tuesday when news arrived that they had been burned in their home near Tottenham on Monday night. Wilbert Fry, a brother of Mrs. Oldfield, got them out of the fire and saved the twin boys. He drove them to Tottenham where he gave the fire alarm. He found a place for the babies to stay and then the three were taken to Alliston hospital suffering severe burns. Mr. and Mrs. Oldfield passed away next morning but at time of writing, Mr. Fry is doing as well as can be expected.

The double funeral was held from the home of Mrs. Oldfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fry, on the fourth of Tecumseth on Friday to the Anglican church, Schomberg. Rev. F. V. Abbott took charge of the service assisted by Rev. Mr. Purchase of Tottenham. Interment was in Bolton cemetery.

Dismiss Accident Charges After Lengthy Hearing

Newmarket—Charges against Roy Bellar, Holland Landing, of failure to remain at the scene of an accident and of dangerous driving were dismissed in magistrate's court here on Friday when the crown failed to prove that Bellar had left the scene with the intention of escaping criminal or civil liability. Joseph Vale represented the accused in the lengthy hearing. Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., presided.

Game warden J. S. Dorland, Alliston, testified that he and overseers J. S. Ellis, J. E. Schmidt and Ernest Prosser had noticed car tracks going down an old road into the Holland marsh but there were no tracks coming out. "We drove down the road and later noticed flashlights blinking," he said. "There was no place to turn so we stopped and put our headlights out and Prosser and I started to walk up the road. In a short time we noticed that the flashlight we had seen went off and then the headlights of a car were turned on."

"We crept into a small side-road and waited," he continued. "The approaching car stopped and we ran out and flashed our flashlights into the interior. The driver of the car kept his head down so that we could not see his face and he started the car up. I shouted at him to stop and stayed on the running board until the car started going fast and I let go."

"The car swung around Prosser's car, smashed into the side, careened off into a ditch and kept going. The other two officers waved their flashlights and shouted for him to stop and one grabbed the license plate in an attempt to pull it off. I did not get the license number but saw that the car was a model A coach. I saw a car similar to it at the home of the accused later. It had a recent scrape mark on the fender and one hub cap was missing. In my opinion it was the same car."

"When we accused Bellar of being in the locality of the accident he claimed that he had not been anywhere in the district. It was quite dark when the accident happened and the road into the marsh was heavy with mud. We were all in civilian clothes but we had our badges. We are authorized to dress that way when we are doing bush and water work."

Hoped To Get License

Dorland said that he had not stepped in front of the car as it approached because he did not think that the driver would be able to get around Prosser's car and he intended to get the license number from the rear. He said that he could not recall having identified himself when he ordered the car to stop.

Mr. Vale asked Dorland what his own reaction would have been if he had been accosted in a similar manner and Dorland said that he would have stopped. "Would you not have been highly suspicious of the motives of the men who were stopping you, specially when they did not identify themselves?" Mr. Vale asked. "Not necessarily, if I did not have anything to hide," Dorland replied. "There would be two possible reactions to the situation," Mr. Vale asserted. "You would either stop or you would step on the gas and get out of there as quickly as possible."

Dorland said that he ran beside the car for about 25 yards before he stopped "because of the car's high rate of speed." Mr. Vale questioned whether a model T car could travel "at a high rate of speed" on a heavy road. "It was going faster than I can run," Dorland replied. He said that the light of Prosser's car had been on. He said that the car slowed almost to a stop when it passed the Prosser car.

Turn On Lights

J. S. Ellis, Alliston, said that he had remained with the car with overseer Schmidt. "We left our lights off until the approaching car was about 70 yards away," he said. "Then Schmidt turned the lights on. Our car was directly in the centre of the road and I was standing beside it. I started to shout at the car because I did not see how it could possibly get passed our car. The other car hit our front door which had been left open. When the car did not stop I shouted to Schmidt to get the license number. He ran after the car and tried to pull the license off but he tripped and fell. He did get the number and we later went to identify the car."

Ellis said that he had gone back later with Prosser to the scene of the accident and had found the hub cap produced as evidence.

In reply to questioning by Mr. Vale, Ellis said that Schmidt had turned the car lights on before Dorland and Prosser had stepped out of the bush. "I don't think that the average man would have tried to pass our car even if the door had been closed but when it was open I didn't think that anyone would try. The road there was bad and it was a pretty wild spot," he said. "We would have been suspicious of anyone that was even on the road."

He admitted that the road was a public one and that anyone had a right to use it and that "if the car had not been there, the natural reaction would have been for someone driving a car to speed up if someone tried to stop him." Pressed further, he admitted that the presence of Prosser's car in the position it was in would have made anyone doubly suspicious. He agreed when Mr. Vale suggested that a driver would have thought that they were there for no good reason.

J. E. Schmidt, Sutton, said that the door of the Prosser car had not been left open to act as a further impediment but admitted that such would be the case. He said that he turned the lights on when the other car was about 50 yards away. He said that when the car had passed he had tried to pull the license plate off but had been unable to do so. He said that the windows in the Prosser car were broken and the side of the car marked and dented.

Ernest Prosser said that the damage to his car had amounted to about $125. "Dorland did shout 'game warden' when he tried to stop the other car," he said.

Trace License

Constable Aubrey Fleury said that he had been given a license number to check and that he had found the license belonged to Bellar. "I went to question Bellar and he denied having been in the vicinity of the accident," Constable Fleury said. "I examined his car and found that the left front hub cap was missing and the fender was scraped. The grease on the hub was fresh. I went to the scene of the accident with Prosser and the others and found the hub cap that has been produced. Ellis picked it up about 25' south of where the accident occurred. Then we went back to Bellar's and found that the other hub caps were the same. I took him into custody."

Mr. Vale asked that the charge be dismissed. "These four men are game wardens and have the authority of a constable insofar as the Game and Fisheries Act is concerned," he said. "There has been no evidence produced in this court to show that there was any breach of this act, or even that Bellar was suspected of a breach of the act and therefore these men had no more authority to order him to stop than an ordinary man has."

"In this instance Bellar was confronted with a number of things which would look highly suspicious to any man and he did just what any reasonable man would do under the circumstances. In addition the facts fail to substantiate that there was even an offence."

"In the first place, what occurred was obviously not an accident. In the second place there is no evidence that it was Bellar who was driving the car." Magistrate Pritchard interrupted to tell Mr. Vale that in his opinion a prima facie case had been established and he asked that Mr. Vale proceed with the defence.

Roy Bellar testified that he had been in the bush cutting wood on the day of the accident and that he had remained there until it was too dark to work. He said that when he returned to his car it would not start so he changed the battery and then started home. "I had gone about 500 or 1,000 yards when someone jumped on the running board and shouted at me to stop," he continued. "There were no lights turned on until after they were on the car and there was no indication that the man was an officer. The door of the other car opened when I was about 45' away."

Beaten Before

"I was beaten up last fall when just about the same thing happened so I was not going to stop this time," he said. "I still have a lot of scars from the last time." He said that the game wardens had been at his home waiting for him when he got there. "If I had known that they were game wardens when they called to me to stop, I would have done so," he said. "The hub cap could be mine." He said that he had not been drinking.

S. R. Goodwin, Holland Landing, said that he owns about 500 acres of bush in the area and that Bellar had permission to cut wood at any time.

Mr. Vale said that the essence of the whole charge which Bellar was facing is that a man must fail to remain at the scene of an accident with the intention of escaping criminal or civil liability. "Bellar's whole reaction under circumstances such as these would be to get out of there and get out fast, especially considering what he says was his previous experience," he said.

"This all took place on a public highway and Bellar was there for a perfectly proper purpose," he continued. "Obviously Bellar would think that the wardens were there for a nefarious purpose when they themselves say that they would be suspicious of anyone using the road."

"There was no indication to Bellar that the men were acting in any official capacity and I submit that in case they were not acting in any official capacity: There was no evidence of or even a suggestion or any infraction of the Game and Fisheries Act. Until they show that they suspected him of an infraction they had no right to stop this car. The methods that these men used were highly reprehensible."

Worn Uniforms

"The officers could have worn their uniforms but they did not. In addition, Ellis himself said that only a person with suspicious motives would use this road. I also submit that there was no accident within the meaning of the act. What was done was done deliberately. Bellar's actions were entirely consistent with the facts as they have been brought out."

"Concerning the dangerous driving charge, there is a clause in the charge itself that must be noted. The charge is that Bellar drove 'in a manner dangerous to the public, having regard for all the circumstances of the case'. Suppose that these men had been thugs—would Bellar still be liable to a charge of dangerous driving for attempting to escape in the only possible way? A police car that drives through a city at 80 m.p.h. in pursuit of a suspect is driving 'in a manner dangerous to the public' but not when 'all the circumstances of the case are considered'."

THE NEWMARKET ERA AND EXPRESS, THURSDAY, MAY 8TH, 1947

Magistrate Pritchard said that there were three main facts to be considered in a charge of this kind. "The first is, was there an accident; the second, was the accused the driver involved, and lastly, did the driver leave the scene with the intention of escaping criminal or civil liability?"

"I find that in this case there was an accident and that the accused was the driver of the car involved. The third question is the difficulty and there are three possible conclusions on this aspect of the case. The first is that the accused knew that the men were game wardens and that he acted in the manner in which he did in order to escape apprehension. The second is that he was frightened by the circumstances and by previous experiences. The third is that he left for the purpose of escaping civil or criminal liability."

"Even if the first were true, Bellar should not be charged under this section. He should be charged with resisting an officer. Also I do not believe that he left the scene with the intention of escaping civil or criminal liability, since it is quite obvious that Bellar had made up his mind to do what he did before the collision even occurred. This is a criminal charge and the accused is entitled to all reasonable doubt. The accused alleges a previous beating and it is fair to assume that his evidence is true. I cannot find that he left the scene of the action with the intention of escaping criminal or civil liability and this charge must be dismissed."

"The same circumstances are equally applicable on the dangerous driving charge. I find that having regard to all the circumstances the accused is not guilty and the charge will be dismissed."

Magistrate Pritchard reprimanded the officers involved for the tactics that had been employed. "In future I advise you to make your identity known," he said.

A 500 MILE JOURNEY...

TO BUY AN INSURANCE POLICY

In 1845, Hugh C. Baker a Hamilton banker, felt the urgent desire to obtain security for his wife and children. But there was not a single Canadian life insurance company in existence at that time.

So Mr. Baker covered the 500-mile journey to New York on horseback, by stage-coach, and finally by river steamer down the Hudson to buy life insurance. Returning home he resolved to help his own countrymen obtain the same security. With a few associates in 1847 he organized the first Canadian life insurance company—the Canada Life.

Throughout its hundred years, this Company has brought security and peace of mind to Canadians in all walks of life.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT
12-MONTH SENTENCE
IN ASSAULT CHARGE

"In imposing penalty, I must impose one that will not only be a lesson to the accused but an object lesson to others who may be tempted to commit a similar offence. I therefore direct that Harvey Jackson shall be sent to jail for a definite term of six months and an indefinite term of six months." Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., said on Friday morning in magistrate's court here. Jackson had been convicted on April 25 of assaulting and beating an 18-year-old girl, occasioning her actual bodily harm. He had been remanded for one week for sentence. T. A. M. Hulse appeared for the accused, who had been unrepresented at his trial.

Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong submitted the reports of two doctors that Jackson is not mentally ill, and is responsible for his actions. He said that Jackson has no record.

Mr. Hulse said that he had known the boy for from seven to eight months. "In my opinion, his fault lies wholly in drinking," Mr. Hulse said. "For the past seven months he has not been drinking, but has been working faithfully at home and has been a real help. This is the first time since then that he has had any trouble, and he had been drinking this time. He does not seem to handle liquor."

"Jackson is a veteran of four years' service, enlisting when he was 18 and served overseas for three years, one of which was in the front lines in France. He was sent back from the front lines suffering from severe nervous shock. He is only 23 years old now. While he was overseas, the barriers of social living were down, and he did not have the benefit of parental care. There is no doubt that he fell into loose ways, and formed bad habits," said Mr. Hulse.

"He married while he was in England, and he has a child. When he returned to Canada he was deprived of his wife and family until last fall, and during that time, he fell back into some of those loose ways, and began to drink again. Since his wife has joined him he has lived a moderate, sober, industrious life.

"His family has a farm at Holland Landing. His father, also a veteran, is in Toronto, and the mother and two sons run the farm. The family is most respected and the mother is very hard-working.

"It is unfortunate that the boy did not have counsel to represent him last week. I know that with his personality and dressed as he was he probably made a very poor impression. I feel that drunkenness was the cause of this offence and it is his first lapse in seven months. Considering his family, his war record, his wife and child, I feel that the interests of justice would be served by a suspended sentence or by binding him over to keep the peace."

Mr. Hulse was permitted to call Mrs. Mary Jackson, Sr., mother of the accused, to give evidence, and she corroborated what Mr. Hulse had said concerning Jackson's past. "Harvey was very nervous and disturbed when he came home from overseas," she said. "His conduct has been very good since his wife came. He seldom goes out or takes a drink and is ordinarily a very happy boy. He never picks a quarrel and is always full of humor. He works hard and has been a great help. His daughter was three years old on Tuesday."

Mr. Hulse said that any association that Jackson might have with criminals at this stage in his rehabilitation would be "most unfortunate."

Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong protested. "It is not often that I ask that the maximum sentence be imposed," he said. "I am going to in this case. The assault was vicious and brutal. The whole situation was repulsive."

Magistrate Pritchard said that it was probable that he would have directed that a more serious charge be laid had not the accused elected summary trial and pleaded guilty to the charge. "It would appear that this boy's downfall was liquor," he continued, "but the impression must not be allowed to exist that the existence of liquor is a license to commit any offence, let alone one as serious as this. The fact that Jackson has no previous record stands him in good stead at this time."

With increasing interest in the results of artificial insemination, a group for York county was invited to address a meeting of over 100 Peel county farmers last Monday on the work of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association. The meeting, largely of Holstein and Jersey owners, was presided over by the agricultural representative, Bruce Beer.

G. W. Keffler, Maple, president of the Maple association, in outlining the history and accomplishments of the group, pointed out that although not yet operating two years, the club has approximately 440 members, about 150 of these being in Simcoe and

SCOUT NEWS

Don't forget salvage days this Saturday, May 10, for the west side of town, and next Saturday, May 17, for the east side of town. The trucks will assemble at the market square at 1.45 p.m. both days. We would like all the Scouts and Cubs to turn out for both these days, so let's get together and make this a really successful drive.

Scouts meet on Thursday night at 7 p.m. Mr. Peel, the Scoutmaster, is trying very hard to line up the ball teams, so come along and let's get started.

Cubs meet on Friday night, 7 p.m. It is nice to have skip back again and he is looking well. This Friday, every Cub make a special effort to bring along a new Cub.

Our new paper bales are working overtime to get the depot cleaned up but we haven't nearly enough help. We need every member of the group committee out every night as well as Scouts and Cubs so we can get this thing cleaned up and keep it that way.

The North York GARDENER

By JOHN DALY
Vice President, Newmarket Horticultural Society

Continuing our list of perennials for borders, here are some of the members of the Michaelmas Daisy, described last week:

Beechwood Challenger: Red, September-October. Climax: Light lavender, September-October. Mount Everest: white, September. Harrington's Pink: Clear pink, September-October. These grow 4-5 ft. high. Some good dwarf varieties growing 12"-18": are: Countess of Dudley: Pink, September - November; Blue Bird: Dark blue, September - October; Snowsprite: Pure white, September-October; Victor: Lavender, September-October; Astille: These have feathery spikes of flowers 2-2½" high, in white, pink and red, flowering in July and August. They like moisture and some shade.

Campanula: Here is another large family of plants including the popular Canterbury Bells as well as: Carpatia, grows about 6" high and can be obtained in both blue and white varieties. Blooms June-September. Persicifolia: Grows 2" and in various shades of blue blooms in June and July.

Calycanthemia: This is the biennial cup and saucer and there are varieties of pink and blue shades as well as white. They bloom in June and July. Grows to 2 ft.

Delphinium: If you cut the stems down when the flowers fade — blooms in September. This is one of the "must-haves." Grows 4-6 ft. high and covers a wide range of colors from white to the darkest blue and from pink and pale mauve to the darkest violet. Late June and July.

Dianthus: Another large family including the popular Sweet Williams, grass pinks and the hardy border carnations. The heights are almost as varied as the colors ranging from 4" to 3'. A great many are sweetly scented. Every garden should have some of these. Blooms May-frost.

TENNIS CLUB PREPARES FOR BANNER YEAR

Newmarket—Members of the Newmarket Tennis club re-elected Keith Davis to the presidency at a meeting in the rear of the council chambers on Monday night. Mr. Davis has been both singles and doubles (with Tommy Scott) champion of the district for several years.

Other officers elected were: hon. presidents, Mrs. W. E. Lyons, Miss B. E. Lyons, N. L. Mathews and W. B. Scott; first vice pres., Jack Peppiatt; second vice pres., Charles Lee; sec.-treas., Dan Teasdale; grounds committee, Jack Peppiatt, Don Morrison, George Case, Jack Hamilton, Charles Lee, Stallard Waterhouse.

Refreshment committee, Joan Peppiatt, Barbara Mather, Florence Callaghan, Peggy King, Alma McComb; membership committee, Margaret Davis, Eva Whitfield, Margaret Kelley, Bert Morrison, Harry Bell; transportation committee, Charles Boyd, Clark Hill, Fred Hall.

Plans were formulated to teach and instruct novices and juniors (high school students), and to co-operate with the Lions club in allowing children the use of the courts at certain hours. The turn-out for the meeting Monday night was exceptionally good and the club is looking forward to a banner year, according to Mr. Davis. He moved a vote of thanks to Joyce Bothwell for her services as secretary-treasurer of the club last year and to Dorothy Bowman who was in charge of the refreshment committee.

HER HOUR OF TRIUMPH

A crowd of over 115,000 people cheered to the echo a former North York girl, Mrs. Elizabeth Graham Lewis, known across the continent to the fannies and race followers as Elizabeth Arden, as she stepped into the winner's circle at Churchill Downs on Saturday to receive the gold trophy, emblematic of the winning of the Kentucky Derby.

Born at Woodbridge and a girlhood friend of Mrs. Alex. Doner, Newmarket, Mrs. Lewis has had a sparkling career in both the business and turf world. Last year, in her ninth year in racing, she had a trio of potential winners of the Derby in Lord Boswell, Perfect Bahram and Knockdown, all three of whom failed to win. Then came a tragic fire which cost her close to a million dollars' worth of prize horseflesh. The Maine Chance Farm owner had fortunately sent to Louisville her two-year-old Jet Pilot and while prominent as a three-year-old, Jet Pilot was not called, by the experts to win the 73rd running of the American race classic. He was third choice and went in at 5-1, a figure shortened from the winter books. Jet Pilot, who won't take the whip, led all the way, threw off every challenge and ended a wild photo finish a nose in front. It was the apex of Mrs. Lewis' racing career and was worth $92,160 less taxes to her. It was a triumph, too, for trainer Tom Smith, suspended most of last year and allegedly framed. Whether or not Jet Pilot goes on to win the Preakness or the Belmont to complete "the triple crown" of the American racing world, matters little. The success saga of the Scotch-Canadian woman whose picture obviously belies her age, is one that warms the cockles of the heart. The days of Horatio Alger's characters are still here if we have perseverance and, of course, quite a bit of luck, too.

BON VOYAGE, EARL!

Earl McCready, "the Aurora farmer", left on Sunday for the first lap of his trip to New Zealand. On Saturday night, Earl made his first appearance before the hometown fans and vanquished Bulldog Drummond, an American wrestler, who was making his first Canadian appearance and will work out of Hamilton. The show was staged for the Aurora board of trade Community Memorial fund through the efforts of Mr. McCready and his wife and netted a handsome sum to the project. A graduate of Oklahoma Agricultural College and a teacher by profession, Earl, who has held the Canadian amateur championship and wrestled at the Olympics, has been 15 years in the professional wrestling field and has toured every state in the U.S.A. and every province in Canada. He has held the British Empire heavyweight crown and wrestled every name grappler to appear on the horizon. He's been close to the world's title, too. "This is his sixth trip 'down under' and it will take 15 days of sailing from San Francisco to cover the 3,800 miles.

Earl told us on Saturday after the bouts that big crowds are on hand at Wellington, Auckland and Christchurch, but it isn't only the big cities that see bouts, for they are carried to every four corners where there is a hall. "You would think that there wouldn't be a corporal's guard on hand, but by the time the show is ready to go there are hundreds and in some cases thousands of people who have come miles to see the bouts." The opposition consists mainly of native New Zealanders, plus one or two Maoris, Australian and European wrestlers and he suspected one or two American wrestlers would be included as well. He'll go to Australia this time, too. Won't be home until near Christmas. A real gentleman, Earl is a credit to the game and has done much to publicize Canada—but more people have heard of Aurora through Mr. McCready than any paid publicity campaign could do. Good luck, Earl!

SPRING SEHNADE!

Richmond Hill softballers finally got organized and are holding practices now. Ben Waters is president of the club with Charlie Ryan as manager and the veteran Steve Young has been installed as coach. Other executives are: C. French, H. J. Mills and Lloyd Foute. They work out on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Canadian Legion softballers have entered into an agreement with the O.S.A. Now players can perform both with regular O.S.A. clubs and for Legion teams not entered in the O.S.A. as well. Plans will be made at North Bay on Saturday, May 17, for the Legion's big sports program.

Major Charlie Watson heads the Maple recreation association which plans a big year. Other officers are: Miss Marian Watson, Andrew Snider and the irrepressible Mike Miller. A strong executive rounds out the group which has 175 paid-up members. Lacrosse, rural softball and girls' softball and soccer are expected to be part of the program.

Wise crack of the week came at the Aurora wrestling show when at the height of the Watson-Sharpie bout, with the boys putting on their best histrionics, a childish voice piped out "By some strange chance are you fellows hurting each other?"

ON THE ALLEYS

By ROY CHANT
Don's Bowling Alleys

The Davis Leather league finished its season with a banquet in the Legion Hall last Thursday evening. All members were highly pleased with the success of their first season and indications are that a much larger league will be in action next year.

R. B. Lind, general manager of the Davis Leather Co. Ltd., stated he was pleased to hear of the success of the league and said that more sport activities were being scheduled for the summer months, including softball, horse shoe tournaments and possibly soccer.

A. N. Belugin, superintendent of the Davis Leather Co. Ltd., expressed his pleasure in seeing the keen competition and good fellowship shown by the members of the league and pointed out that it was not necessary to be always a winner but it was necessary to show good sportsmanship in playing the game.

Stan Smith's team won top honors for the season with a total point score of 49,712 for 17 games. Members of this team were Stan Smith (capt.), H. Doonan, J. Cullen, Jr., L. Wright, W. Cullen and B. Revell. Alex. Belugin filled in a few nights as spare man on this team and helped the boys along.

H. Pettit's team came second with a total of 48,685 pins, followed by A. Peppiatt's with 48,337 and W. Brown's team with 47,293.

The member of each team who had the highest season's average also received a prize. Recipients were S. Smith, 210 average, K. Tansley, 203, H. Pettit, 199, and L. Burling, 198.

We have some good news for the bowlers this week. Don's Bowling Alley is running a men's bowling contest on May 15 if there are enough entries to make it worthwhile as all entry fees are put into prizes. We understand that each entry bowls three nights and the highest three lines of any one night is to count. This way a fair bowler has a chance as he usually has a good night of bowling now and then.

The entry fee is $1 so come on, fellows, the more entries the higher the prize money will be. The first prize will be $25 and the other prizes will be according to the number of entries. The deadline for entries is May 14. If you wish to enter phone 861 or 343 or contact this column and we will be glad to see that your name is entered.

LEGION NEWS

"The Legion is looking for a march all its own," reports Aubrey Seythes, president of the Newmarket Branch No. 426. "The competition, which opened May 1 and closes on July 31, is open to everyone."

Three prizes of $500, $300 and $200 are offered for the best compositions.

Tomorrow night, May 9, will witness another party at the Newmarket high school when the Newmarket Branch No. 426 will hold its first annual V-E Day dance under the sponsorship of Cecil Jarvis. Novelty dances and prizes are features of the plans and refreshments will be served.

LIBRARY CORNER

By CAROLINE E. ION

How can books from the juvenile section of the Newmarket public library aid the boys of our community? Girls are generally more enthusiastic readers than are the adolescent boys. However, reading, as a source of information on hobbies is a wonderful incentive, not only to a keener interest in a particular craft, but also to a later appreciation of reading as a hobby in itself. The way a boy spends his leisure time moulds his character as profoundly as does his school training. A happy, bright youngster is the boy with a purpose to his thoughts who finds interesting and satisfying activities to occupy those free hours.

The boy, whether through the lack of a necessary stimulus from the parents, who is unable to acquire a skill in a hobby, or who, because of his parents' adeptness in a particular craft, hesitates to venture a contribution for fear of unfavorable criticism, is greatly handicapped in his quest of a happy, well balanced life. Whether the hobby be photography, sports or carpentry, a boy will find added joy in his pastime reading what authorities have written regarding his favorite hobby. The juvenile section of the Newmarket public library contains a full quota of books on boys' hobbies.

In this day of air-minded youth the book, "Flight Today," by J. L. Naylor and E. Oliver, will be interesting reading material not only for any model airplane builder, but to all air-conscious boys. Although of 1936 vintage this book gives an excellent background of elementary knowledge on the principles of flying as well as important data relating to early aircraft and their construction. HOFFMAN BANQUETS. HOCKEY PERSONNEL

Newmarket—Last Wednesday the Canadian Hoffman Machinery Company headed by Bob McGuire played host to the members of the Hoffman hockey team, the team executive and those associated with the team during the past winter. Proceedings got under way with the team gathering at the Maple Leaf Stadium to witness the opening of the Toronto baseball season between Baltimore and Toronto. Following the game they adjourned to the Forbes hotel for dinner. P. J. McGuire, general manager of Canadian Hoffman Machinery Co., made the boys welcome. After dinner Father T. J. McCabe, coach of the team, was presented with a useful gift. Following this, Mr. McGuire, assisted by Father McCabe, presented each member of the team and executive with a handsome plastic brush and comb set. Players who received the gifts were Mickey Smith, Joe Peat, Cliff Gunn, Joe Magani, Harry Caradonna, Duke Dennis, Herb Simpson, Harold Tunstead, Bill Gardner, Barney Peterman, Murray Jelley, Bob Smith, Bohmer Groves, Ken. Speakers included Mr. McGuire who will shortly be in charge of the Newmarket plant of Canadian Hoffman Machinery Co., Johnny Campbell, team manager, and Father McCabe, team coach. Definition: A teen-age boy is a person who flops on the sofa on the back of his neck and scatters his legs over half the living room.—Stratford Beacon-Herald

Can Make" is a guide and reference that can be turned to on a dozen occasions and is more suitable material for the younger lad. There is a great deal in this book to attract and interest the average healthy-minded boy and with it at his elbow many a pleasant hour can be spent. Particulars are given regarding the making of toys and the construction of useful articles for the home.

A book which any junior craftsman would thoroughly enjoy is "Birdhouses" by Paul V. Champion. This book, written in a clear manner, gives the natural environment and habits of birds as well as the plans for the construction of various birdhouses. Many of these plans were worked out by boys themselves, proving that this hobby has had great influence in developing thinking workers as well as in stimulating an interest in bird life.

By GEORGE HASKETT, JR.

Newmarket—The organization meeting of the North York Lions baseball league for 1947 was held on Sunday at Stouffville. Officers elected were: pres., Len Simmons (Aurora); sec.-treas., Bill Holloway (Aurora); executive, Grant Nightswander (Richmond Hill), Doug. James (Markham), George Smith (Stouffville), Bill Haskett and Geo. Haskett (Newmarket).

The league this season will operate three series, bantam, midjet and junior. Entries in the bantam series have been received from Markham, Stouffville, Aurora and Richmond Hill. Five teams are lined up for the midjet competition, Markham, Stouffville, Aurora, Richmond Hill and Newmarket. In the junior series, entries were accepted from Aurora, Stouffville and Newmarket.

It was suggested that Richmond Hill represent the league in the bantam series of the Ontario Baseball Association with the right to draw the best bantam players from the other teams. Both Newmarket and Markham will enter the O.B.A. midjet play-downs. Aurora was to represent the league in the O.B.A. juvenile "B" and both Newmarket and Stouffville will file entries in the O.B.A. junior B championship play-downs.

It was suggested that the league would welcome an entry in any of its series from Bradford if it wished to come in.

Stouffville this year will have the pick of the players from Stouffville itself as well as Markham, Milliken, and Unionville so should field a very strong entry this year. The junior series schedule will get under way with Newmarket journeying to Stouffville May 23 to renew the battles of last season. Newmarket will stage their homes at the S.S. school grounds on Friday evenings. Aurora coming here May 30 to open the local season.

Friday evening, May 2, at 6:30 this year's junior squad will get down to serious practice sessions at the S.S. school grounds. All boys of junior age (20 and under) will be welcome.

MUSCLE CARD DRAWS 900 FANS TO BOUTS

Aurora—A crowd of 900 enjoyed a fast three-bout card of wrestling at the Aurora Armory on Saturday evening. The armory made a splendid site for the Aurora Board of Trade event and the ring was easily visible from all parts. In the opener, Mike Sharpe, Hamilton, bested Bill Stack of Oshawa. Proceedings warmed up in the second bout which saw Earl McCready of Aurora meet Bulldog Drummond of Detroit. Drummond roughed-up the proceedings but Earl conquered the villain much to the delight of the crowd.

It took ex-world's champion Whipper Billy Watson 34 minutes to pin the broad shoulders of Ben Sharpe of Hamilton to the mat. The contest was fast and clean, and the grapplers repeatedly drew applause for their efforts. Bob "Strangler" Wagner was the third man in the ring and Sammy Sobel was the announcer. Following the bouts Mr. and Mrs. McCready entertained the visitors.
